Preface

Our chief purpose in the publication of this little volume, is to place in the hands of the congregation, which regularly worships in The First Church, accurate information about the organization and work of the church as it is today. We have, purposely, omitted historical matter. The history of an organization as old as this, and as influential as it now is and always has been, if it were fully and justly written, would grow to greater length than is consistent with the purposes of a directory. Those who desire information in brief compass, concerning the history of The First Church, are referred to the most excellent brief historical sketch of the church, prepared by Mr. Geo. E. Wilson, one of the elders of the church, and published in The First Presbyterian Church Year Book, 1908-1909. In this connection we express the hope that in the not distant future, some one who is competent to do so, will prepare and publish a history of The First Church.

This volume is only a directory. As such, it will be found convenient to the officers of the church, to the Sunday School workers, society presidents, and to all of the members of the church.

It is hardly to be expected that it will be found wholly free from inaccuracies. A live congregation is constantly changing. Where inaccuracies occur each person may correct the discovered inaccuracy in his own volume, and thus have a directory that will serve all practical purposes.

The Session of the Church

The Presbyterian Church is organized according to the Scriptures, and has only those offices and officers that are found set forth in the Scriptures.

The government of a particular congregation of the Presbyterian Church, is entrusted to the Session, which is composed of elders or presbyters, who are chosen to this office by the vote of the members of the church in which they bear office, and solemnly ordained to the office by the laying on of the hands of the Session where one already exists, or by the hands of the Presbytery in the organization of new churches.

These elders are of two classes, viz.: Ruling Elders and Teaching Elders. Teaching Elders are also called pastors.

“The Church Session is charged with maintaining the spiritual government of the church, for which purpose it has power to inquire into the knowledge, principles, and christian conduct of the church members under its care; to censure those found delinquent; to see that parents do not neglect to present their children for baptism; to receive members into the communion of the church; to grant letters of dismission to other churches, which, when given to parents, shall include the names of their baptized children; to ordain and install Ruling Elders and Deacons on their election by the church and to require these officers to devote themselves to their work; to examine the records of the proceedings of the Deacons; to establish and control Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes, with special reference to the children of the Church; to order collections for pious uses; to take the oversight of the singing in the public worship of God; to assemble the people for worship when there is no minister; to concert the best measures for promoting the spiritual interests of the church and congregation; to observe and carry out the lawful injunctions of the higher courts; and to appoint representatives to the Presbytery and the Synod, who shall, on their return, make report of their diligence."—Book of Church Order, Section III., ¶ 67.

The Diaconate

The Presbyterian Church has also a body of officers called Deacons. This also is a scriptural office, and one of great honor and usefulness in the church.

"The duties of this office especially relate to the care of the poor, and to the collection and distribution of the offerings of the people for pious uses, under the direction of the Session. To the Deacons also, may be properly committed the management of the temporal affairs of the church."—Book of Church Order, Sec. IV. ¶ 46.

Church Finance

This church is supported entirely by the voluntary contributions of its members and adherents. The pews are all free and all persons are cordially welcomed to any and all of its public services. Persons who regularly avail themselves of the privileges of worship afforded by this church, are expected to contribute as they are able, to defray the expense incident to the maintenance of the church. The church stands in the heart of a great and growing city, and must be a large and vigorous organization if it would occupy the largest influence possible to it by virtue of position. The maintenance of this church is quite an item. The church holds no bazarrs nor entertainments, nor does it turn aside to any of those devices that are some times resorted to to secure funds for the support of the church. Unless the church is worth what it costs to maintain it, it should not be maintained. If it is worth it, then honest men and women who derive benefit therefrom, should cheerfully pay for it. The members of this church do so.

Since April 1st, 1912, this church has used what is known as The Assembly's Plan of Church Finance, adapted to our needs. By this plan a package of duplex envelopes is placed in the hands of each member of the church, and any other person who desires to contribute. This package contains an envelope for each Sunday in the year. Contributors are requested to put the amount of their weekly contribution to the support of the local church in the end of envelope printed in black, and their contribution to the missionary and beneficent causes of The Presbyterian Church, U. S. in the end printed in red, and drop in the collection plate on Sunday. A careful record is kept of every contribution, by means of the number on the contributor's envelope, this being the number opposite his name in the record.

No gift, however large, is in any manner made known abroad, nor is any gift, however small, despised or overlooked. Let none despise the day of small things, neither let any feel exalted over things comparatively large. "On the first day of the week, let every one lay by him in store as God hath prospered him."—I. Cor. 16:2.

The Benevolent Objects to which this church contributes in addition to the support of this church itself, are:

Foreign Missions.

Ministerial Education and Relief.

Sabbath School Extension and Publication.

American Bible Society.

Assembly's Home Mission, including

- (a) Colored Evangelization.
- (b) Evangelistic Work in New Territory.
- (c) Mission Schools and Colleges.
- (d) Mountain Mission Work.

Synod's Home Missions.

Synod's Orphans' Home, Barium Springs.

Presbytery's Home Missions.

Alexander Rescue Home.

Presbyterian Hospital.

Support of two smaller churches in the city.

Support of a City Missionary.

The Associated Charities of the city.

The Salvation Army.

The last two mentioned are not included in the regular budget, however.

All the funds that are contributed in the regular collections, pass through the hands of the Treasurer, Mr. J. W. Zimmerman, and are disbursed by him with the approval of the Deacons and Session. His books are always open to inspection, and his long and faithful service in this responsible position, entitles him to the lasting gratitude of the congregation.

Church Membership

“A particular church consists of a number of professing christians, with their offspring, associated together for divine worship and godly living, agreeable to the scripture, and submitting to the lawful government of Christ’s kingdom.”—Book of Church Order; Sec. IV., ¶ 20.

Children of believers, before they come to years of discretion, are minor members of the church visible, and should be dedicated to God in baptism in infancy. They are admitted to full communion when they reach the years of discretion, upon profession of their faith in the Saviour.

Persons who desire to become members of the church, appear before the Session and make a credible profession of faith in the Saviour, or if they are members of the church in some other locality, they may present letters or certificates of dismissal from the church where they have been members.

Persons who can honestly give an affirmative answer to the following questions, may be admitted to the membership of the church:

1. Do you acknowledge yourself to be a sinner in the sight of God, justly deserving His displeasure, and without hope save in His sovereign mercy?

2. Do you beleive in the Lord Jesus Christ as the Son of God, and Saviour of sinners, and do you receive and rest upon Him alone for salvation as He is offered in the gospel?

3. Do you now resolve and promise in humble reliance upon the grace of the Holy Spirit, that you will endeavor to live as becometh the followers of Christ, forsaking all sin and conforming your life to His teaching and example?

4. Do you submit yourself to the government and discipline of the church and promise to study its purity and peace?

It is the solemn duty of all the members of the church to attend regularly upon the public worship and preaching of the word in the sanctuary on the Sabbath, to pray for the peace and prosperity of the church, to contribute to the support of the church, and to maintain character and conduct that will commend the gospel to the world.

Membership of the Church by Streets.

In order that there may be a distribution of labor and the best interests of the whole congregation served, the congregation is arranged in twelve groups with a deacon and an elder for each group charged with the responsibility of serving that group in their official capacity. The grouping has been along local lines, i. e. members in the same location in the city, as far as practicable are in the same group.

We followed this plan in The School of Systematic Beneficence last year with gratifying success, and shall continue to use this method.

Removals will occasion some changes in the grouping form from time to time. For the next Church year the groups will be as indicated in the following list of members arranged by streets. The streets in this list do not follow each other in alphabetical order, but an index of streets at the end of the list will render the directory workable. The Roman numeral after each street indicates the number of the group to which the residents on that street belong.

The Church Bible School

The First Presbyterian Church has a well organized Bible School, led by capable officers, and taught by efficient and faithful teachers.

The Bible School meets every Sunday at 3:30 p. m. from September to June, and at 10 a. m. through June, July and August.

There is a place in the Bible School for every person of whatever age or circumstance, to engage with the help of a well informed teacher in the social study of the scriptures.

The Bible School is not designed to take the place of the training of the children of christian parents in the home, nor of the private devotional study of the Bible by individual christians. It is, however, a very great aid to home training and private study, and all the members of the church should take advantage of it. Parents are urged to bring their children to the Bible School rather than send them.

The equipment for Bible School work is not, at present, all that could be desired, but the Session, at its meeting in February, appointed a special committee, consisting of Elders Robert Glasgow, R. A. Dunn and F. C. Abbott, to make a careful study of the needs of the Bible School, and report, with a view to providing for the needed equipment in the near future.

The organization of the Bible School is as follows:

W. M. WILCOX, JR., Superintendent.

ROBERT GLASGOW, Assistant Superintendent.

J. A. ELLIOTT, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Societies of the Church.

To bring all the membership of the Church into active service, and to stimulate the church to full fellowship with the church at large, there are societies formed within the church itself, by which persons interested in the same phases of work may unite their efforts and thus secure the best results for themselves and the church. Every person who unites with the church will find it helpful to unite with some one of these societies and take part in this work. There are in the church five societies for women and girls and two for men and boys. These societies are all under the supervision of the Session.

The women's and girls' societies are all embraced in a federation called The Women's Board of United Missions, which works under the following constitution and by-laws:

The Margaret Wilson Society

The Margaret Wilson Society is composed of girls over fifteen years of age. The name is that of the Scotch martyr girl who died rather than renounce her faith.

The object of this society is to lead the members to a sense of their responsibility in making known the Gospel of Jesus Christ to every man and nation.

The means used in seeking to accomplish this end are: Mission study; gifts to Home and Foreign Missions; intercessory prayer; works of charity for the relief of some of the suffering in their own town; annual representation at a missionary education conference; and the employment by the members of their own God-given talents in making their meetings pleasant as well as profitable.

While the society has an advisor, the leaders are chosen from among the members of the organization.

Meetings are held after the Sunday morning service, and during the time the society is studying a text book covering a definite course. The society meets every Sunday. After the study course for the year has been completed, meetings occur only every other week.

Societies for Men and Boys

1. The Men's Foreign Missionary Society.

This Society was organized twenty-five years ago and is one of the oldest men's foreign missionary societies in our Southern Assembly. It holds no stated meetings but assembles upon the call of its officers to consider matters of a missionary character. Every member makes a voluntary monthly contribution for foreign mission work. These funds are collected by the treasurer. From the funds thus provided the society supports Rev. John W. Davis, at Soochow, China, and funds contributed over and above the $1,000 for this specific cause, are turned over to the General Assembly's Executive Committee of Foreign Missions.
